CHICAGO PACKING HOUSES REEK WITH FILTH, STENCH AND DISEASE

President Roosevelt Sends Reynolds-Neill Report to Congress---Revolting Conditions Tally With Assertions of Independent Investigators.

DECENCY DEMANDS LEGISLATION

ROOSEVELT SAYS CONDITIONS ARE REVOLTING IN EXTREME

Conditions in the Chicago stock yards are revolting. The stock yards and packing houses are not kept even reasonably clean and the method of handling and preparing food products is uncleanly and dangerous to health. A law is needed which will enable the inspectors of the general government to inspect and supervise from the hoof to the can the preparation of meat food products.—Roosevelt.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—President Roosevelt today transmitted to both houses of congress the reports of Commissioners Reynolds and Neill relative to sanitation at the big slaughter houses of the country. The reports were accompanied by a strong message calling upon congress to pass measures to remedy the evils complained of in the reports.

The message and a summary of the reports of the commissioners are as follows:

President's Message

The Senate and House of Representatives:

I transmit herewith the report of Mr. James Bronson Reynolds and Commissioner Chas. P. Neill, the special committee whom I appointed to investigate into the conditions in the stock yards of Chicago and report thereon to me. This report is of a preliminary nature. I submit it to you now because it shows the urgent need of immediate action by the congress in the direction of providing a drastic and thorough going inspection by the federal government of all stock yards and packing houses and of their products so far as the latter enter into interstate or foreign commerce. The conditions shown by even this short inspection to exist in the Chicago stock yards are revolting. It is imperatively necessary in the interest of decency, that they should be radically changed.

Under the existing law it is wholly impossible to secure satisfactory results.

When my attention was first directed to this matter an investigation was made under the bureau of animal industry of the department of agriculture. When the preliminary statements of this investigation were brought to my attention they showed such defects in the law and such wholly unexpected conditions that I deemed it best to have a further immediate investigation by men not connected with the bureau and accordingly appointed Messrs. Reynolds and Neill. It was impossible under the existing law that secret work should be done by the bureau of animal industry. I am now however examining the way in which the work actually was done.

Before I had received the report of Messrs. Reynolds and Neill I had directed that labels placed upon any package of meat food products should state only that the carcass of the animal from which the meat was taken had been inspected at the time of slaughter. If inspection of meat food products at all stages of preparation is not secured by the passage of legislation recommended I shall feel compelled to order that inspection labels and certificates on canned products shall not be used hereafter.

The report shows that the stock and packing houses are not kept even reasonably clean and that the method of handling and preparing food products is uncleanly and dangerous to health. Under existing law the national government has no power to enforce inspection of the many forms of prepared meat food products that are daily going from the packing houses into interstate commerce. Owing to an inadequate appropriation the department of agriculture is not even able to place inspectors in all establishments desiring them. The present law prohibits the shipment of uninspected meat to foreign countries but there is no provision forbidding the shipment of uninspected meats in interstate commerce, and thus the avenues of interstate commerce are left open to traffic in diseased or spoiled meats. If as has been alleged on seemingly good authority, further evils exists, such as the improper use of chemicals and dyes, the government lacks power to remedy them. A law is needed which will enable the inspectors of the general government to inspect and supervise from the hoof to the an the preparation of the meat food products. The evil seems to be much less in the sale of dressed carcasses than in the sale of canned and other prepared products.

In my judgment the expenses of the inspection should be paid by a fee levied on each animal slaughtered. If this is not done the whole purpose of the law can at any time be defeated through an insufficient appropriation and whenever there was particular interest in the subject it would not only be easy but natural to make the appropriation insufficient. If it were not for this consideration I should favor the government paying for it.

The alarm expressed in certain quarters concerning this feature should be allayed by a realization of the fact that in no case under such a law will the cost of inspection exceed eight cents per head.

I call special attention to the fact that this report is preliminary and that the investigation is still unfinished. It is not yet possible to report on the alleged abuses in the use of deleterious chemical compounds in connection with canning and preserving meat prod

REPLY MADE BY PACKERS

HIDE BEHIND FARMERS—REFER TO PERSISTENT MISREPRESENTATIONS—CLAIM TO FAVOR INSPECTION

CHICAGO, June 4.—Eight of the big packing establishments in Chicago issued a statement tonight replying to the charges made in the Neill-Reynolds report of the investigation of the packing plants and President Roosevelt's message to congress. The packers declare that their plants are clean, their methods of manufacture satisfactory, their products wholesome and that for years doctors, chemists and official investigators from practically every civilized nation who have made examinations of the meat packing plants have been satisfied with the conditions existing in this industry. Despite this, the packers assert that they stand ready to adopt any practical suggestion for improvements. The companies which signed the statement are Armour and Company, Swift and Company, Nelson Morris and Company, The G. H. Hammond Company, the Omaha Packing Company, the Anglo American Provision Company, Libby McNeill and Libby and the Schwarzschild and Sulzenberger Company. The statement follows:

Statement of Packers.

The question raised as to whether diseased meats are sold by our packing houses is one on which the whole world wants the facts and the truth must be told if the meat and live stock industry is to have a square deal. This view of the whole question is absolutely ignored in President Roosevelt's message and all but omitted from notice in the Neill-Reynolds report.

Every pound of meat in our packing houses comes from animals which are inspected and passed by the trained veterinary agents of the department of agriculture. This is the absolute fact. We are not interested in animals condemned before slaughter. We do not buy them. Every animal bought by us is inspected both before and after slaughter. Every animal or carcass that does not pass this rigid inspection is condemned and disposed of under the personal supervision of the agents of the United States. The administration at Washington knows these facts. The writers of the Neill-Reynolds report know them. That these are facts is reluctantly admitted in their report but even this slight reassurance to the public is almost buried in the tail end of what they have written.

"Persistent Misrepresentation."

We have been believers in rigid animal and meat inspection since the inspection was first inaugurated. We have shown belief in it by shouldering an annual loss of approximately $1,000,000—our loss on animals which are bought as healthy and condemned on inspection after slaughter. And now in spite of persistent misrepresentation we are heartily in favor of making this inspection more efficient if it can be done and if extending the operation of the law to cover the sanitary condition of packing houses.

"It is to be regretted that Messrs. Neill and Reynolds did not get a practical light on their subject before writing a report in which it is apparently assumed that blood, grease and the every day incidents of animal slaughtering are dirt. In contrast with their view we call attention to a report on packing house conditions by Professor T. J. Burrill vice president and professor of bacteriology of the University of Illinois and Professor H. S. Grindley, professor of chemistry at the same institution.

This report by Professors Burrill and Grindley which recites the results of an investigation made within ten days, is offered by the packers as their commentary on the detailed allegations by Messrs. Neill and Reynolds. After going into details and ascertaining that general conditions in the meat packing industry are as good as could be expected under the circumstance, their report says:

Packers' Professors Report.

"'Our observations make it impossible for us to believe the horrible stories recently appearing in print, or that anything approaching the described conditions in this industry really exists. It was apparent to us that the work of the government inspectors was done in strict accordance with the regulations issued by the bureau of animal industry. The condemned carcasses or parts are followed by these officials notwithstanding statements to the contrary, to the rendering tanks, and these tanks are sealed and unsealed in their presence. If these men are competent for their work, and they appeared to us to be performing their duty, it is impossible for the packers if they so desired to use unlawfully condemned animals or carcasses.

"'We paid particular attention to the charges that the employes spit on places which come in contact with the products. We saw only one man spit during our investigations and he was a government official. The packing business is for butchers, and anyone having any connection with the actual work has no use for kid gloves. We did not find anything seriously repugnant to cleanliness or wholesomeness in the operations or procedures, but we did find a desire on the part of

BOSTON, June 4.—Resolutions and a report declaring that the selection and preparation of meat for the American and foreign markets is a serious menace to the public health and severely criticising opposition to the passing of the pure food bill were unanimously adopted today by the house of delegates of the American Medical association which began its annual meeting here today. The resolutions are as follows:

TROOPS CALLED TO QUELL RIOT

ABUSE OF ITALIAN MINER BY GUARDS CAUSE OF TROUBLE IN OHIO COAL FIELD.

STEUBENVILLE, O., June 4.—At midnight telephone inquiries made at the various stations in Jefferson and Belmont counties indicated that everything was quiet. Troops will arrive from Columbus tomorrow.

While various estimates have been made of the casualties, it is impossible to verify any reports of deaths although it is known that ten or more men were hurt. It is known that one of the wounded guards who fell into the hands of the strikers was taken to Smithfield as a prisoner.

The clash was the direct outgrowth of the alleged abuse by the United States Coal company's guards of an Italian union miner from Pittsburg on Sunday afternoon. Early this morning 68 of the company's guards started to march across the hills from Plum Run to the Bradley mine and at Crow Hollow were ambushed by a force of 200 to 300 strikers. In the battle that ensued several hundred shots were fired, but the strikers' aim was bad, which accounts for the few casualties. The guards were forced after 20 minutes of fighting to retire in disorder to Plum Run.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, June 4.—Sheriff Voorhees of Jefferson county has wired here for 100 soldiers to be ordered immediately to the scene of the shooting near Steubenville. A bulletin from Steubenville today says 500 shots were fired by striking miners on the one side and by mine guards on the other. No one was killed. Sheriff Voorhees says he expects more trouble tonight. The state authorities are now in consultation regarding the request of the sheriff.

WESTERN FEDERATION [illegible] INVADE THE LAW AND GO INTO MEXICO

DENVER, June 4.—According to Acting Secretary James Kirwan of the Western Federation of Miners an effort will be made to organize the native miners of Mexico into unions branches of the federation, as a result of the strike at Cananea. Under the laws of Mexico, no labor unions are allowed. This law will be evaded however by organizing Mexican unions in Arizona and New Mexico, and taking in the native miners throughout Mexico.

LIBERAL MEMBER OF PARLIAMENT SUGGESTS THAT HOME COUNTRY NEEDS FOOD INVESTIGATION

LONDON, June [illegible] [illegible]

[illegible] editorial [illegible] newspapers this [illegible] issued a warning to British consumers to avoid all American products of the kind [illegible]

The papers [illegible] attention [illegible] products for export [illegible] [illegible] courage [illegible] highly praised [illegible] products.

The chamber [illegible] advantage of [illegible] preferential scheme [illegible] the Daily Telegraph says:

Americans [illegible] expect that our confidence in the wholesomeness of their food products will be restored for many a long year.

The paper advocates a preferential duty imposed [illegible] meats canned or otherwise in favor of the colonies on condition that the colonies permit [illegible] inspectors [illegible] for the proper handling of canned goods, adding that such a scheme might easily prove the starting point for an imperial policy of colonial preference.

Incidentally the dressed beef revelations seem destined to provoke an inquiry into the conditions of British food preparation. Mr. Cooper liberal member of parliament for Bermondsey in a letter to the Daily Mail says:

Let us not forget while throwing stones at the Americans that we ourselves live in glass houses. If the truth were known about the preparation of the food eaten in this country the British public would have an unpleasant shock.

Dr. Cooper goes on to complain of defective inspection in Great Britain declaring that there is no scientific inspection such as there is in Germany, with the result that there is much more unsound meat in England than in Germany.

PURCHASED LOTS TO MAKE VOTES

SENSATION SPRUNG IN DENVER ELECTION FRAUD CASES WITNESSES REFUSE TO BE SWORN.

DENVER, June 4.—Two sensations were sprung in the hearing before Judge John I. Mullins for a petition for a grand jury to investigate the alleged election frauds in the recent city election. The first was the testimony of John Cook, Jr., a prominent real estate owner, who said he sold 700 lots to the sum of $700 to Frank W. Frueuff, general manager of the Denver Gas and Electric company. The witness acknowledged that Frueuff did not know the locality of the lots. The attorneys for the Honest Elections league will make an effort to show that these lots were deeded to certain voters, who otherwise could not vote upon the franchises.

The second sensation came before the close of the hearing today, when Fred A. Williams, chairman of the Republican city and county central committee, and J. W. Brady, chief clerk of the Gas company, refused to be sworn as witnesses. Lucius W. Herit, attorney for the Honest Elections league, made an effort to have the two men imprisoned for contempt, but the judge said he would take the matter under advisement.

A. P. GORMAN, SENATOR, DIES

HEART TROUBLE CAUSES SUDDEN DISSOLUTION OF NOTED STATESMAN.

SERVED IN NATIONAL CONGRESS FOR 18 YEARS FUNERAL FROM WASHINGTON HOME THIS MORNING

WASHINGTON, June 4.—Arthur Pue Gorman, United States senator from Maryland, died suddenly at [illegible] morning. While Senator Gorman had been ill for many months he had shown some improvement lately. His death was the immediate result of heart [illegible] Gorman was conscious [illegible] during the past week [illegible] yesterday [illegible] hopes of [illegible] He [illegible] o'clock this [illegible] he was seized with a heart attack and died in five minutes. At the bedside were Mrs. Gorman, Miss Ada Gorman [illegible] daughter and the nurse.

Senator Gorman leaves a widow and six children as follows: Miss Ada Gorman, Mrs. Wilton J. Lambert, Mrs. R. A. Johnson, Mrs. R. W. Hills, all of this city; Mrs. Stephen Gambril, of London, England, who arrived here a week ago, and Arthur Pue Gorman, Jr., of Laurel, Md., member of the Maryland assembly.

Senator Gorman long has been a notable figure in the national congress. He took his seat in 1881 and served continuously for 18 years and nearly all of that time he was leader of his party in the senate. Winning early reputation for sagacity and the keenest judgment in congressional affairs he attained prominence not only as a leader in the senate but in the country at large and by many prominent men was considered the most available man in his party for the presidency. He was chairman of the executive committee and managed the campaign that resulted in the election of Cleveland in 1884.

It was announced tonight that the funeral would be held at Senator Gorman's late residence, No. 1420 K street at 11 o'clock Tuesday morning. The services at the house will be private and will be conducted by a Presbyterian clergyman. Those attending the services will be limited to the family, the senate and house committee and a committee of personal and political friends from Maryland. It was Mr. Gorman's request that he be buried in Georgetown just across Rock creek from this city.

Mrs. Gorman was prostrated by the senator's death and for a time was under the care of a physician.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—The senate adjourned today immediately upon receiving the announcement of Senator Gorman's death. No business whatever was transacted, even the reading of the journal being dispensed with.

There was an unusual number of senators present and all were manifestly impressed by the solemnity of the occasion.

Appropriate resolutions were adopted and a committee to attend the funeral was appointed. After the senate adjourned the desk and chair formerly occupied by Senator Gorman were draped in deep black in accordance with custom in such cases. The house also appointed a committee to attend the funeral.

These changes will make room for ranking lieutenant colonels in the army. Those who will receive promotions to full colonelcies will be William Pitcher of the Twenty-eighth infantry, who will become colonel of the Twenty-fourth. H. S. Foster of the Twelfth, which has just returned from the Philippines, will be given command of the First, and J. C. Dent will be given command of the Twenty-seventh, leaving his old regiment, the Twenty-fourth infantry.

RATE BILL IS AGAINST SNAG

CONFERENCE REPORT MAY BE SENT BACK TO CONFERENCE.

INJECTION OF NEW MATTER IS CAUSE OF DELAY—ROADS WANT EMPLOYE PASSES

WASHINGTON, June 4.—It is expected that the conference report of the railroad rate bill will be sent back to conference as a result of injection of new matter in the bill. Efforts to [illegible] [illegible] to ask for [illegible] of the bill have been [illegible]

They [illegible] with the house conference [illegible] and considered the criticisms. Leaders of both bodies decided to stand [illegible] consider the report unless [illegible] back on points of order. It [illegible] that there are four [illegible] the bill to which points of order might be sustained. The first is the incorporation of the words "transportation facilities" in the provision requiring every common carrier to file with the commission copies of all contracts with other common carriers in relation to any traffic transportation facilities affected by this act.

In Section 4 the words "or transportation" were added to the provision authorizing the commission to pass on the reasonableness and justness of any regulations or practices whatsoever of such carrier or carriers affected by such rate. Another amendment of the same character was made to this section.

The fourth amendment subject to a point of order is that declaring that the act shall take effect sixty days after its passage.

The conferees have held that the provisions in relation to lateral or branch lines fixing the salaries of the secretary and assistant secretary of the commission and a number of others to which objection has been raised are not subject to points of order, for the reason that while they are new matter, they were inserted in amendments under dispute and are germane to the subject.

The pass amendment was considered and the probabilities are that it will be amended to exempt employees and their families. A campaign has already been begun to defeat the anti-pass amendment. Many telegrams have been received by members of the house, signed by officers of railroad organizations, reading:

"Please use all means within your power to stop passage of bill prohibiting the issue of passes to railroad employes and their families."

Denver League Wants Chief Powwow of Political Parties.

It was agreed that at a meeting to be held in the near future Judge John I. Mullins, Democratic committeeman for Colorado, and Hon. A. M. Stevenson, Republican committeeman for this state will be officially notified of the invitation of the league, and both shall be asked to use every effort to bring the conventions here.

STORM SWEEPS OVER OKLAHOMA

ONE PERSON KILLED, PROPERTY LOSS INCALCULABLE—CLAREMORE INUNDATED BY WATERSPOUT

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 4.—One life lost, hundreds of head of livestock killed and incalculable loss to property are the sacrifices exacted by a damaging wind and hail storm of cyclonic proportions which swept over Oklahoma and Indian Territory early this evening. Farm houses were picked up and tossed about like so many pebbles, while live stock was sucked up by the wind and dropped from mid air.

Claremore, 180 miles east of here was visited by a water spout and the town was practically inundated. All wire service south and west of this city is out.

F. D. COBURN TAKES PLACE OF J. R. BURTON IN SENATE

DISGRACED KANSAS SENATOR, CONVICTED OF [illegible] IN OFFICE AND SENT TO PENITENTIARY, RESIGNED [illegible] DAY.

TOPEKA, Kas., June 4.—Governor Hoch this afternoon appointed F. D. Coburn United States senator to succeed J. R. Burton. Mr. Coburn has [illegible] secretary of the state department of agriculture for several years.

[illegible] KAS., June 4.—United States Senator Joseph R. Burton of [illegible] after a conference [illegible] this [illegible] with several close friends, [illegible] resignation in the hands of [illegible] Hoch. The resignation was [illegible] the governor shortly before [illegible] Burton left his home [illegible] and immediately upon [illegible] secret conference with his close friends to talk over the situation. These friends included Bailie Wagener of Atchison, a Democrat, W. P. Hackney, George Findley and a few others. As has been his custom since the charges were first brought against him, Senator Burton declined to talk for publication before going into the conference this morning. However, it had been freely stated that the senator would place his resignation in the hands of Governor Hoch before the day closed and when it finally was handed to the executive no surprise was exhibited by the state officials and politicians here.

The following letter of resignation from United States Senator J. R. Burton was handed to Governor Hoch by W. P. Hackney, one of Mr. Burton's attorneys shortly before noon today:

To His Excellency Governor E. W. Hoch:

Sir—I hereby resign as a United States senator for the state of Kansas to take effect immediately. Very respectfully,

JOSEPH R. BURTON.

CONTEST OVER STANFORD ESTATE

SAN FRANCISCO, June 4.—What practically amounts to a contest of the vast Stanford estate was filed in the county clerk's office today by a niece of the senator against the executors of the will of the late Jane Stanford. The action takes the form of a suit for $108,000, said to be accruing to Asa P. Stanford since the death of his brother and the restoration of $500,000 worth of stock alleged to have been fraudulently withheld by Mrs. Stanford to cheat her brother-in-law in his old age and destitution. The complaint accuses Mrs. Stanford of conspiracy and fraud.

The chronicle in the complaint begins as far back as 1869, when Asa Stanford was one of the directors of [illegible] of which his brother was the president. It is alleged that at the solicitation of Leland Stanford he withdrew his position and surrendered his sixth share of the total stock. For this transfer of power and stock Leland Stanford agreed to pay his brother $1,000 a month during his life time and to leave $300,000 worth of stock at his death. This agreement was faithfully executed by the senator, who invariably made the monthly payments and left $175,000 worth of the stock.

It is set forth that Mrs. Stanford only took possession of the stock [illegible] to have been left her brother-in-law but refused to pay him the [illegible] monthly [illegible] Asa Stanford released all his claims against the estate for a [illegible] of $75,000. [illegible]

Pupils of the domestic science department will give a public exhibition of home-cooked foods this afternoon from 2 to 5 o'clock and from 7 to 9 o'clock in the domestic science laboratory of the High school building. This will be the last public reception of the present school year. Miss Gashwiler, instructor in that department, will have charge of the exhibition.

Last September a department of domestic science or cooking was installed in the High school building for the pupils of the seventh and eighth grades of the public schools. At present there are 300 girls and one boy taking the course. The purpose of the exhibition today, as stated by Miss Gashwiler, is to show the patrons of the school the benefits derived by school children from such a course.

Probably one of the most interesting exhibits will be the muffins made by the boy, [illegible] Henry Specht of the Garfield school.

Each pupil is required to bring some article of food which they have made themselves. The dining room will be tastefully decorated and will be in charge of the seventh grade pupils of the Garfield.

PROSECUTING LYNCHERS.

THE PROCEEDINGS of the Department of Justice in the Chattanooga lynching case a few days ago is likely to have a salutary effect on those individuals who seek to [illegible] a negro criminal or suspect from the [illegible] of the law and punishing him under the guise of lynch law. All lynchers could not be punished, [illegible] it is proposed to punish the offenders in this case [illegible] conditions here are peculiar but there are other ways by which all persons who indulge in this form of lawlessness can and should be reached.

Last March a negro named Johnson, who was under sentence of death for rape, was lynched by a mob in Chattanooga. The United States Supreme Court had granted an appeal in his case from the Federal Circuit Court of Tennessee on the ground that he had not had a fair and impartial trial. In his information filed a few days ago in the Supreme Court Attorney-General Moody alleges that the order of the court granting an appeal was telegraphed to the Sheriff at Chattanooga and the story was published in the afternoon papers there the same date. The Sheriff had every reason to expect that an attempt would be made to lynch Johnson but despite these facts he withdrew the usual guard early in the evening leaving only the night jailer in charge. At nine o'clock the mob came, secured the prisoner and lynched him. Neither the Sheriff nor the night jailer made any resistance; on the contrary it is alleged that they assisted in the lynching.

Now Attorney-General Moody demands the punishment of the sheriff, nine of his deputies and other members of the mob for contempt of court. The case is not to be heard until October when the Supreme Court convenes for the next term but it is to be supposed that the offenders will be sternly dealt with, for the United States Supreme Court is not a body that permits its orders to be ignored.

A Chattanooga dispatch says that the action of the Attorney-General caused great surprise there, as the local grand jury had failed to return indictments against the lynchers of the negro. This is quite natural for in lynching cases grand juries are usually unable to find that anybody has committed an offense. They assume that the victim's death was due to natural causes, much as the frontier coroner's jury decided that a man who had been killed in a gun fight committed suicide by failing to draw first.

This disposition of grand juries called to consider lynching cases was exemplified in Springfield, Mo., a few days ago. It will be remembered that on the night of April 14 a mob stormed the jail in that town, took out three negroes and hanged them in the public square, afterward burning the bodies. A grand jury was impaneled almost immediately for the express purpose of securing evidence against the persons who took part in the affair. It deliberated for more than a month without results, meanwhile permitting two of the principal witnesses to leave for parts unknown. At last it brought in a report "vehemently deploring" the action of the mob, and censuring the officers for neglect of duty. It also said that the mob was not composed of representative citizens but of the disorderly element—all of which is very interesting but scarcely likely to lead to the punishment of the savage hoodlums who murdered the three negroes.

It is all very well to deplore lynchings but we may hold up our hands in horror for the rest of our lives and it will not do a particle of good unless condemnation is accompanied by action. The actual punishment for murder of the participants in a lynching would do more to stop the practice than all the choruses of protest that have been voiced in the country since the first outrage of this kind was perpetrated. Attorney-General Moody is working along the right line and it is devoutly to be hoped that he will succeed in bringing this derelict Sheriff and his fellow murderers to justice.

BUILDING BATTLESHIPS.

IN HIS "History of the American Navy" John D. Long, who was Secretary of the Navy during the war with Spain, tells an incident to show how the officials of the Department in the early days of the new Navy were compelled to use their wits to get what they wanted. The old idea prevalent since the Civil War that the United States did not really need a navy still had a strong hold on public opinion and it was difficult to persuade Congress that appropriations were actually needed. When the reconstruction of the fleet was begun it was thought that only cruisers and small ones at that were necessary, but the [illegible] at the head of the Navy Department knew better. They wanted battleships, such as other nations possessed, but Congress had an idea that battleships were for aggressive purposes only, and of course our country was never to assume an aggressive attitude toward any nation on earth. So the wise statesmen refused a request for an appropriation for "sea-going battleships" and the prospect looked dark. Finally somebody in the Navy Department thought of substituting the words "coast defense" for "sea-going," which was done and the appropriation was forthcoming. Congress was willing to defend the coast but not to provide ships for the high seas, though the difference was merely one of terminology. One of the battleships thus secured is the famous Oregon, which rendered such splendid service in the late war.

There are indications that public opinion is gradually drifting toward that state of complacent disregard of danger that almost led to serious results a few years ago. Fortunately the new Navy had been placed on a respectable footing before the Cuban trouble became acute. If it had not the result might have been different. The military enthusiasm aroused by the victory and especially by the Navy's part made it easy for the Department to secure appropriations from Congress for the next five or six years but now that the Navy is getting big and strong enough to hold its own with any of the greater Powers the idea is gaining ground that it is as big and strong as it needs to be. Each session it is growing harder to get the naval appropriation bill through Congress without having it cut down to a point that provides only for maintenance but not increase.

Compared with the naval appropriations of ten or even five years ago the amount provided in the present bill, $9[illegible],000, seems enormous but it does not represent extravagance. The fact is that Great Britain, France, Germany, Russia and Japan, to speak only of a few of the powers, [illegible] for naval increase [illegible] perfectly plain that the United States [illegible] with the procession. Nobody whose opinion is worth considering thinks that this country should have the strongest fleet in the world but it is not only desirable but absolutely essential that we have one capable of holding its own against the navy of any nation except Great Britain. To argue to the contrary is sheer folly. It is a costly game but when Europe sets the pace we must follow.

Great Britain is just completing a 19,000-ton battleship, the Dreadnought, which is the largest in the world. Japan has recently completed two of 19,000 tons each and is preparing to build two of 18,000 tons each. It is reported that another a thousand tons larger even than these is projected but it is not definitely known. France, Germany and Russia are planning ships as big as the Dreadnought but so far the United States has nothing larger than 16,000 tons. The house has passed the naval appropriation bill which contains provision for a 20,000-ton battleship to cost $10,000,000 but the bill has yet to make its way through the Senate where the strongest opposition to this feature is expected.

The race for naval supremacy is a costly affair but we are in it and there is no getting out, for the nation can not get along without a navy and unless it is as good a navy as other nations possess it is not worth much.

BOOSTING THE CENTENNIAL.

DURING the last two or three months comparatively little has been heard here at home of the work of the publicity committee which is advertising the Pike Centennial but this is not to be construed as an indication that the work is lagging. On the contrary it is going ahead at a satisfactory rate and Colorado Springs and in fact the entire state are now getting some of the best free advertising they have ever had.

Mr. Rathbun of the committee has prepared a number of "feature stories" setting forth in detail the complete story of the celebration, what has already been done and what is yet to be done. These have been sent to a number of the larger Eastern papers, those of the greatest influence and circulation, and have been published without charge. The papers are glad to get them because they make interesting reading and bear none of the earmarks of advertising matter and the committee is of course glad to have them published because they help acquaint the Eastern public with the proposed celebration.

In an interview in The Gazette last Saturday Governor McDonald [illegible] that it is proposed to form a northern Colorado boosting committee to cooperate with the local organization in advertising the centennial. This at least shows that the enterprise is attracting considerable attention in Denver and throughout the state and that the people at large do not regard it as a purely local affair. This is the proper attitude. The Pike Centennial will probably attract more visitors to Colorado than have ever come here to attend a single celebration or meeting of any kind. The railroads have granted exceptionally low rates from Eastern points and may be depended upon to do everything in their power to help swell the crowds.

The celebration will be held at a time when Colorado weather is at its best, just at the beginning of fall when the green of the summer foliage is turning to tawny yellow and brown and the mountain slopes are gorgeous with the variegated hues of the autumn leaves. Our summers are cool and delightful but all things considered there is no season in Colorado more enjoyable than the early fall. And this is a fact that can not be too strongly impressed on the Eastern people who are now being reached by the work of the publicity committee.

Count Boni's salary as a member of the French Chamber of Deputies is $1,800 a year. This pays for his cigarettes; the Gould pension pays his other expenses.

L. S. Coffin is the Prohibitionist candidate for Governor of Iowa. The political undertaker will attend to him next November.

Senator Burton's friends say he is hanging on to his seat because he needs the money. This is also the reason he is in trouble.

Maxim Gorky is the latest fad of Philadelphia society women. And yet there are people who say that Philadelphia is slow.

The mere thought of the impending fate of Senator Smoot is enough to send a shiver down the spine of Senator Burton.

LESSON TAUGHT BY FIGURES

From the Boston Transcript.

The United States every year expends about $140,000,000 in pensions for wars that are past and somewhere between $180,000,000 and $200,000,000 in being prepared against wars in the future. In the last fiscal year there was paid out for the naval establishment $122,000,000, for the support of the army and the military academy $77,000,000. Taken altogether pensions, the navy and a fleet called for $340,000,000. A comparison between the costs of the arts of war and the arts borne by the government is afforded by the fact that the agricultural appropriation for the last fiscal year was $5,942,000. The comparison is made even more striking when we realize that from 1839 to the present day, counting the proposed appropriation, the aggregate appropriations for the department of agriculture are $6[illegible],272, or $12,000,000 less than was expended on the army last [illegible]. Yet we are a peaceful nation depending largely on agriculture for our prosperity.

"THE AMERICAN LANGUAGE."

From the Baltimore Sun.

Occasionally some foreign publications assert that there is such an unworthy thing as an American language. Our slang phrases and our dialect stories worry them not a little. So far as dialect is concerned we have no advantage over our English brethren. They have novels written in a jargon which no one not initiated into the mysteries can understand. But no American has risen to remark that England and the United States have everything in common except language. It is left for a London [illegible] to indulge in that melancholy [illegible] to add: "So vast is the number of Americanisms that to all intents and purposes America has a language different from ours, and they are therefore no more British than they are French and German." This is possibly intended to be patronizing as well as humorous but it will arouse no bad feeling on the part of American litterateurs. They would as soon be German or French as British, especially if to be British it should be necessary that they resemble the poet laureate. It is not denied that the United States has contributed many Americanisms to the language of John Bull. We are a resourceful people, much given to invention, and if we want a word that is not in the dictionary we do not hesitate to coin one. This may be in very bad taste, but we have a great country and are entitled to make occasional innovations. If we [illegible] a finished country such as Great Britain is we might be content with the language as it was handed down to us by Shakespeare. But we are [illegible] and [illegible] language [illegible] all the time [illegible] keeping up with us. If our British cousins don't [illegible] taking with the English tongue [illegible] they might repudiate it and adopt [illegible].

Press Opinions

PROSPERITY STILL HERE

From the New York Commercial.

A writer in a hardware trade journal says there is considerable complaint in the hardware trade about the difficulty experienced by the manufacturers in filling orders. The factories, he says, are [illegible] and it is difficult to recall a time when the manufacturers have been as busy as they are today.

Three years ago they thought that they had reached the zenith of their activity but business has been growing better all the time and they are now wondering what the future can have in store. Nothing prospers like prosperity. What is reported here in the hardware trade is true in almost every well organized American industry today.

Some foreign buyers experience occasional difficulty in getting their goods as quickly as they expect, but they need not imagine for a moment that they are the victims of discrimination, but they may know that if they get their goods on time without experiencing great delays they are exceedingly fortunate.

COMMON SENSE AND THE RATE BILL.

From Harper's Weekly.

We do not suppose that any senator disputes the president's right to try to bring about a combination [illegible] to assure the passage of an amendment to the rate-making bill intended [illegible] to the public welfare. Neither is it open to question, we presume, that the president had a right, having come to the conclusion that the amendment originally desired by him could not secure the necessary forty-six votes, to accept the Allison amendment as a compromise. What Senator Tillman and Senator Bailey say is that if the President had stood firm [illegible] amendment materially restricting the power of the courts to review a rate made by the commission could have been carried. That is a question of fact as to which opinions may differ. Most well informed persons thought at the beginning of May that [illegible] of twenty-six Democratic senators could be mustered for an [illegible] body [illegible] the views formulated by Attorney General Moody [illegible] additional twenty Republican senators would [illegible] forth [illegible]. Under the circumstances the president can hardly be blamed for making the best of the situation. He accepted the six propositions embodied in the Allison amendment as representing [illegible] he could manage.

THE "MENACE OF WEALTH."

From the New York W[illegible]

A plea [illegible] in behalf of the [illegible] family has been [illegible]. [illegible] laudable activity he appeals to the pride of his fellow citizens. [illegible] cheered by an average American crowd [illegible] his victories. Yet his grandfather was [illegible] of the best-hated [illegible] that ever worked a railroad.

Such [illegible] views suggest a doubt whether President Roosevelt did not in his muck-raking speech exaggerate the menace of great wealth in this country.

Wealth constantly tends to disperse through sudden subdivision. No individual Vanderbilt is now anything like the power in finance or in railroading that the old Commodore was. Most great American fortunes are distributed by inheritance into many channels. Even when there is but one heir, that heir does not develop financial genius, or as in Mr. Carnegie's case, public purposes may claim millions.

In other lands men of great wealth find an outlet for their energy and ambition in politics. [illegible] Could Rockefeller or Morgan be elected to congress? The wealthier Astor tried it once and was beaten by a man of comparatively moderate means. Popular instinct is so strong that no Vanderbilt, Astor or Rockefeller would be even chosen as a candidate for elective honors unless he were a younger scion, a generation or two removed from the money-getting and rendered popular by services or qualities quite distinct from those rendered in financiering.

The American people practically forbid citizens of great wealth from cherishing ambition in the ordinary sense and so they [illegible] playing with tennis racquets, yachts and fast automobiles—unless indeed they go on making money, which in the second and third generation they almost never do.

Colorado Comment

MISPLACED SYMPATHY.

From the Victor Daily Record.

The other day a burglar was sentenced to [illegible] years in the state's prison of New York. The man had made robbery a profession for many years and had probably caused much suffering by his burglaries. When he was called up for sentence he made a plea for mercy on the ground that he had a wife and family.

"There are other wives and families to be considered," was the remark of the judge.

There is considerable wholesome truth in this. Whenever a criminal is to suffer the consequences of his crime he promptly makes a plea for mercy and the common ground is consideration for those who are dependent on him. One is sometimes astonished at the oceans of sympathy poured out on the average criminal. The blacker his crime the more sympathy. He begins to develop heroic qualities at once, and if he is to be hanged, there is a maudlin outburst of feeling that is positively nauseating.

The New York judge was not moved by the sympathy plea.

In spite of all the so-called humanitarian sentiment of the twentieth century, we are still of the opinion that the best place for the convicted criminal is behind the bars or else removed to some penal colony.

CAN NOT HARM ROOSEVELT.

From the Wet Mountain Tribune.

To accomplish any good in official life a man must be strong and fearless. When you get a man like that in office stand by him. He is sure to make enemies of those who want weak and pliant men in office. He [illegible] fight them. Let him know that you [illegible] support him in his efforts to better things. [illegible] Tillmans and Baileys in the country can not shake the people's faith in the idea that Roosevelt is honest and deserving of public support.

TO LET DRUG TRUST ALONE

ROOSEVELT KEEPS OUT, BUT JUSTICE DEPARTMENT WILL ACT.

RETAILERS SEND MEMORIAL TO PRESIDENT, CLAIMING THAT THEY DID NOT GET A "SQUARE DEAL."

WASHINGTON, June 4.—President Roosevelt has declined to entertain any proposition looking to further investigation of the alleged drug trust before the proceedings recently instituted at Indianapolis by the attorney general are pushed. Following interviews with representatives of the National Association of Retail Druggists the president has concluded that he will leave the whole matter in the hands of the department of justice.

It was stated at the department today that the investigation has been going on for several months, that the department is entirely satisfied with the evidence secured and that the prosecution will be conducted without delay.

In a memorial to the president retailers allege that they have not been given a "square deal." It is asserted that about a year ago when the Loder suit in Philadelphia was under way counsel for the retailers interviewed the United States attorney at Chicago and afforded him every opportunity to investigate. It is alleged that the United States attorney stated that proceedings would not be had without a full preliminary hearing. The retailers deny that they were a party to the Loder suit.

It is claimed that assurance was given that the association should have ample notice of any proceeding. The memorial sets forth that the association courted governmental inspection and any suggestion which would be helpful and declares its 20,000 members could not afford to be under the imputation of violating the laws. The memorial calls attention to the fact that the promises for preliminary hearing were violated although the plans of the association had undergone great changes to meet rulings by the United States court of appeals at Philadelphia.

The memorial expressly states that the association was organized against the trusts, the views in this respect being stated as follows:

"A fair investigation would demonstrate that the small dealers had been compelled to associate themselves to fight the trust idea. They are today at the mercy of the mail order houses, the department stores and great capitalists. These people are not pharmacists; they are not in the drug business as the 40,000 pharmacists are, for the purpose of making a living, but for the purpose of building up a gigantic enterprise yielding great profits. In their efforts these aggregations hesitate at nothing. It was the question of actually continuing to exist which compelled the retail druggists to organize."

DRUG TRUST DEFENDANTS FILE WRITTEN APPEARANCE

INDIANAPOLIS, June 4.—Sixty drug and proprietary medicine firms located in various parts of the country filed written appearances in the federal court today as defendants in the case of the United States against the National Association of Retail Druggists. The bill of complaint was recently filed by United States District Attorney Keating, under the direction of Attorney General Moody, in an effort to break up the alleged combination known as the drug trust. There are 90 defendants in the case.

BURNS GETS PERMISSION TO EXAMINE GOLD DOLLAR

Permission has been granted to James F. With this end in view a joint survey of the two properties will be made within a few days.

LITTLE JOHNNY LESSEES MAKE FABULOUS STRIKE

LEADVILLE, Colo., June 4.—A fabulous gold ore discovery has been made on the Ibex, or Little Johnny, by Robert Walker and Logan Hawkins, who are leasing a small block of ground. While working in one of the stopes they encountered a pocket of ore from which, in a few hours, they took out and sacked 110 pounds of ore that returned values of $35,000.

The mass of gold mixed with white waste matter was five feet high, two feet wide and an inch thick.

The Ibex company will receive 65 per cent of this gold and the lessees 35 per cent. Another find of 37 pounds of ore was recently made which yielded $13,500. This gold was sold to eastern banks for specimens and brought more than $20 an ounce.

MANUAL TRAINING EXHIBITION ARRANGED

An exhibition of the work in manual training which has been carried on in the public schools of the city for several months will be given Wednesday afternoon and evening in the High school building under the direction of Arthur J. Yeomans, who has had charge of this department since its introduction.

This will be the first public exhibition of the work done by the pupils in this branch and is intended to show the value of this particular kind of instruction. The work undertaken up to the present time has been confined chiefly to work in wood, such as [illegible] and chisel work, and several objects have been developed among the pupils, principally in the higher grades.

The purpose of the manual training so far taken up in the local schools has been to develop a constructive tendency in the children and especially to train them in exactness. The latter feature has proved particularly effective. While the teaching of manual training in the public schools is not designed to teach boys any particular trade, still the adaptability of some of the pupils has proved that a somewhat wider knowledge of the craft would develop them into artisans of ability.

SAYS MEXICANS STARTED RIOTS

AGITATORS CALLED UPON NATIVES TO EXPEL FOREIGNERS—MEXICAN CONSUL ISSUES STATEMENT

LOS ANGELES, Calif., June 4.—E. B. Lewis, consulting engineer of the Pennsylvania and Cananea Copper company, adjoining the property of the Greene Copper company at Cananea, returned here from the latter place today, having left there last Friday. He says the whole trouble at Cananea was caused by agitators from the city of Mexico, who distributed pamphlets headed "Mexico for Mexicans," and setting forth that the government was turning the country over to Americans and calling upon the natives to rise and expel all foreigners. These pamphlets read:

"Mexican workmen: A government is elected by the people to guide them and satisfy their necessities in all requirements. This Mexico does not possess. On the other hand a government exists which is composed of ambitious persons who criminally contemplate oppressing the people, being elected by the worst of them in order that they might assist them in enriching themselves. This Mexico does not need. That the people elect their officers to govern them, not to ridicule and humiliate them, is what the republic should be.

"People, arouse yourselves and act; learn that which you seem to have forgotten. Congregate and discuss your rights. Demand the respect that is due you. Every Mexican whom the foreigners despise is worth just as much as or more than those foreigners if he will join with his brothers and claim his rights.

"Curse the thought that a Mexican is worth less than any Yankee, that a negro or Chinaman is to be compared with a Mexican. That this is a fact is the result of the very bad government which gives the advantage to the adventurers rather than to the true owners of this unfortunate land. Mexicans, awake. The country and our dignity demand it."

EL PASO, Tex., June 5.—Francisco Mollan, Mexican consul at El Paso, gave the following statement to the Associated Press tonight:

"Only seven Mexicans and two Americans were killed at Cananea. The Mexican officials are now in absolute control and so quiet is the situation that Governor Ysabel returned to Hermosillo today, leaving General Torres and Colonel Kosterlitzky in command. The Mexican government will not censure Governor Ysabel for taking armed Americans to Cananea, as they were not American troops and it was time for action. Men were needed instantly to restore peace and the Americans volunteered. Governor Ysabel accepted them pending the arrival of the Mexican troops.

"The trouble at Naco between Americans and the Mexican officers Friday night was simply a mistake on somebody's part and is deplorable, but I am satisfied that it is ended. There was no organized attempt, as I understand, of armed men to force themselves into Mexico. I think the incident is closed."

Claim Right to Protest

Continuing the packers say:

"In the light of what we are doing we have a right, we believe, to protest against hasty and empirical judgment that serve only to put weapons into the hands of foreign competitors of the American livestock and meat producing industry. "We know our methods are good, but we stand ready to adopt any practical suggestion in the line of improvement. We do, however, most emphatically dissent from the opinion that the way to better the public's food supply is to attack the source of production that is already under thorough government supervision."

CURE BY THE CUTICURA REMEDIES

"I will gladly give you all the information concerning my case. I used the Cuticura Soap and Ointment for a diseased scalp, dandruff, and constant falling of hair. Finally I had to cut my hair to save any at all. Just at that time I read about the Cuticura Remedies. Once every week I shampooed my hair with the Cuticura Soap, and I used the Ointment twice a week. In two months' time my hair was long enough to do up in French twist. That is now five years ago, and I have a lovely head of hair. The length is six inches below my waist line, my scalp is in very good condition, and no more dandruff or itching of the scalp. I used other remedies that were recommended to me as good, but with no results. If you wish to publish any of what I have written you, you are welcome to do so. I am, respectfully, Mrs. W. F. HYDRO-ELECTRIC MATTER SIDETRACKED BY COUNCIL

Water Superintendent Hopkins Submitted Report Which Was Passed By Without Reading---Another "Peace Conference" Held Yesterday. Injunction Suit Hearing Postponed a Week.

In spite of the fact that Superintendent of Water Works J. A. Hopkins handed in a report to the city council last night which had an important bearing on the Hydro situation, the report was passed by without reading, much to the disappointment of some fifty citizens in attendance at the meeting.

Peace conferences between the city and the Hydro company still continue although all the members of the council's peace committee were not invited to the last meeting. Mayor Henry C. Hall, M. Taff and Kails buyler, attorney for the Hydro company, held a long conference yesterday afternoon in Mayor Hall's office but refused to discuss the matter after the meeting. Alderman [illegible] Verner, chairman of the water [illegible] said last night that he had [illegible] advised that such a [illegible] was to be held and seemed greatly surprised that such a conference should be held without all the members of the council's peace committee being invited to participate.

Not a word concerning the Hydro question was heard at the council meeting last night. When President Holden asked Alderman Verner if the water committee had anything to report the latter replied "Nothing" without further remark.

Superintendent Hopkins' report which was presented to the council but was not read follows in part:

"To the Honorable Mayor and Members of the City Council:

"Gentlemen: I am submitting [illegible] monthly statements. I have endeavored to place before you nothing but the cold facts just as we find them. I believe you should know the existing conditions of your water system. I have no desire to cover up any mistakes. If I have made any. My books and records are all open for your inspection at any time and all our work is done openly and above board. We invite your careful investigation of the charges made by Mr. Taff as to my neglect of duty in [illegible] matter. I will not [illegible] this time refer to the many denials [illegible] reports made by Mr. Taff.

"Once during the month, on the 15th, the mesa reservoir got very low. At about 6 o'clock in the evening several persons called me up and said they were out of water. I knew at once the mesa reservoirs were empty and I went immediately and turned some water from [illegible] which relieved the situation [illegible] ordered on two turns from Lake Moraine at [illegible] o'clock. I notified the Hydro plant that I had ordered them to water from Lake Moraine and asked them [illegible] get through. We got [illegible] at the Hydro still [illegible] main intake got [illegible] right time but it was [illegible] we got it at the Hydro [illegible].

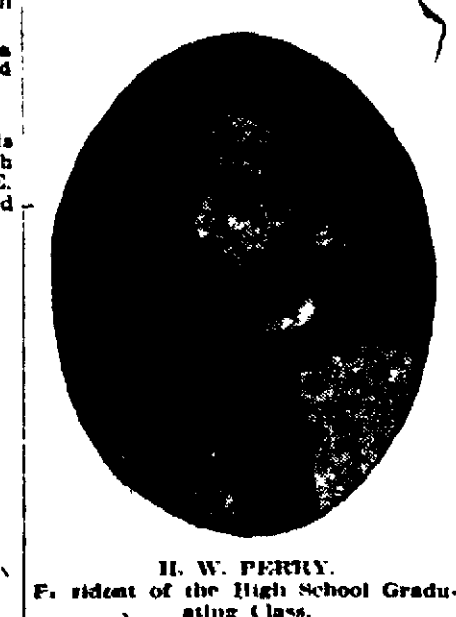

"Before the Hydro [illegible] company began to operate their [illegible] plant we could bring water from Lake Moraine in about two hours [illegible] at Manitou.

"Respectfully submitted,
"J. A. HOPKINS, S[illegible]"

The hearing of the Hydro [illegible] injunction suit against the city which was to have been held in Denver today in the United States court has been postponed for one week at the request of the Hydro company. Attorneys for the Hydro company say they expect to have the trouble with the city settled within a week and if they succeed the Verner resolution will probably be rescinded by the council and the injunction suit dismissed by the Hydro company.

COL. LEWIS GINGER TALKS OF ATROCITIES IN MEXICO

Trouble in Mexico is not confined to [illegible] the Mexicans the one disturbing element according to Colonel Lewis Ginger of this city who has mining interests in that country.

"The Yaqui Indians have caused [illegible] Mexico than have the striking Mexicans," said Colonel Ginger. "Not [illegible] ago less than three weeks the Indians in the vicinity of San Javier, a town about eighty miles south of Carinea, went on the war path and a number of people, some of them Americans were slaughtered."

Colonel Ginger is associated with the Santa Rosa Mining company located at San Javier and at the last report received from that point the mine and smelter belonging to the company were closed down because of disturbances raised by the Indians.

"These raids by the Indians," said the Colonel, "are actuated partly through a spirit of revenge and partly out of a desire for plunder. For several years the Yaquis have been waging war against the Mexicans because that government [illegible] their version of the affair has been taking away their lands. [illegible] recently thought that the Indians began attacking Americans.

"Our property [illegible] eighty miles from a railroad and [illegible] necessary to ship the bullion from the smelter by wagon to the railway. In order to insure safety on these trips we have asked for and have been supplied with an escort of 200 or more soldiers to accompany our men. On the last trip the usual escort was provided but the Indians set upon our men and soldiers and drove them [illegible]. An appeal was at once [illegible] for additional troops and 200 or more were sent on to the scene of the trouble at once [illegible] by them and the others were able to get back to the smelter with but small loss. Our men are now, or were at last report, barricaded in the buildings at the smelter and mine and are unable to do a thing except guard against attack by the Indians.

"Several prominent Mexicans and one or more Americans were killed by the Indians according to advices received by Colonel Ginger among them Don Pedro Meza, wife and three daughters, Senorita Toni and Theodore Haff. The last named is the postmaster of Ladura. Others known to Colonel Ginger have met death at the hands of the Yaquis.

"Just when the trouble will be settled," said Colonel Ginger, "it is hard to guess as the Indians are much harder fighters than the Mexicans. Their atrocities are barbarous in the extreme. Not satisfied with plundering the places attacked the Indians torture their victims in the most inhuman way. One instance brought to my notice through a communication received from there was the case of a young boy gouged out both his eyes, then chopped away portions of his feet, and turned him loose to suffer and die."

SPRINGS MAN BADLY INJURED

HE LAY FOUR DAYS AT MINE IN MONARCH DISTRICT WHILE SUFFERING TORTURES.

After being badly injured, Bert Prewington, a miner whose home is in Colorado Springs lay helpless and alone for four days at a mine in the Monarch district suffering tortures from hurts, starvation and thirst. News of the accident reached Colorado Springs yesterday.

Brewington was working in the breast of a 700-foot tunnel belonging to the Clinton Mining company in the Monarch mining camp, 20 miles west of Salida. A shot failed to explode and he dug out the charge and shortly afterward dropped his single-jack to the ground. This was followed by an explosion, blowing the unfortunate man some distance, breaking his leg below the knee and tearing off a portion of his right hand. He did not lose consciousness and crawled to his cabin a short distance from the mouth of the tunnel.

The accident happened Tuesday and no help came until yesterday afternoon when he was found by his partner, Marion Booth. Brewington was taken to Salida where he lies in a hospital in a critical condition. His parents left this city for Salida yesterday.

PACKING HOUSE REPORTS ARE SENT TO CONGRESS

[illegible] nor on the alleged doctoring in this fashion of tainted meat and of products returned to the packers as having grown unsaleable or unusable from age or from other reasons. Grave allegations are made in reference to abuses of this nature.

Let me repeat that under the present law there practically is no method of stopping these abuses if they should be discovered to exist. Legislation is needed in order to prevent the possibility of all abuses in the future. If no legislation is passed then the excellent results accomplished by the work of this special committee will only endure so long as the memory of the committee's work is fresh and recrudescence of the abuses is absolutely certain.

I urge the immediate enactment into law of provisions which will enable the department of agriculture adequately to inspect the meat and meat products entering into interstate commerce and to supervise the methods of preparing the same and to prescribe the sanitary conditions under which the work shall be performed. I therefore commend to your favorable consideration and urge the enactment of substantially the provisions known as senate amendment number 29 to the act making appropriations for the department of agriculture for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1907, as passed by the senate, this amendment being commonly known as the Beveridge amendment.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT

The full text of the Reynolds-Neill report is as follows:

Reynolds-Neill Report

The President:

As directed by you we investigated the conditions in the principal establishments in Chicago engaged in the slaughter of cattle, sheep and hogs and in the preparation of dressed meat and meat food products. Two and a half weeks were spent in the investigation in Chicago, and during this time we went through the principal packing houses in the stock yards district together with a few of the smaller ones. A day was spent by Mr Reynolds in New York in the investigation of several of its leading slaughter houses.

During our investigation statements of conditions and practices in the packing houses together with affidavits and documentary evidence were offered us from numerous sources. Most of these were rejected as being far from proving the facts alleged and as being beyond the possibility of verification by us. We have made no statement as a fact in the report here presented that was not verified by our personal examination. Certain matters which we were unable to verify while in Chicago are still under investigation. The following is therefore submitted as a partial report touching upon those practices and conditions which we found most common and not confined to a single house or class of houses. A more detailed report would contain many specific instances of defects found in particular houses.

Condition of the Yards

Before entering the buildings we noted the condition of the yards themselves as shown in the pavements, pens, viaducts and platforms. The pavement is mostly of brick, the bricks laid with deep grooves between them which inevitably fill with manure and refuse. Such cannot be properly cleaned and is slimy and malodorous when wet, yielding clouds of ill smelling dust when dry. The pens are usually uncovered except those for sheep; these latter are paved and covered. The viaducts and platforms are of wood. Calves, sheep and hogs that have died en route are thrown out upon the platforms where cars are unloaded. On a single platform on one occasion we counted 1 dead hogs, in the next 10 dead hogs. The only excuse given for delay in removing was that so often heard, the expense.

Packing House Buildings

The interior finish of most of the buildings is of wood; the partitions, walls, supports and rafters are of wood uncovered by plaster or cement. The flooring in some instances is of brick or cement, but usually of wood. In many of the rooms where water is used freely the floors are soaked and slimy.

The buildings have been constructed with little regard to either light or ventilation. The work rooms as a rule are very poorly lighted. A few rooms at the top of the buildings are well lighted because they cannot escape the light, but most of the rooms are so dark as to make artificial light necessary at all times. Many inside rooms where food is prepared are without windows, deprived of sunlight and without direct communication with the outside air. They may be best described as vaults in which the air rarely changes. Other rooms which open to the outer air have large windows so fouled by dirt and the walls and ceiling so dark and dingy that natural light only penetrates twenty or thirty feet from the windows, this making artificial light necessary. The dark and dingy rooms are naturally not kept suitably clean.

Light and Ventilation.

Systematic ventilation of the work rooms is not found in any of the establishments. In a few instances electric fans mitigate the stifling air, but usually the workers toil without relief in a humid atmosphere heavy with the odors of the rotten wood, decayed meats, stinking offal and entrails.

The work tables upon which the meat is handled, the floor [illegible] in which it is carried about and the tubs and other receptacles into which it is thrown are generally of wood. In all the places visited but a single porcelain lined receptacle was seen. Tables covered with steel, iron cars and iron tubs are being introduced into the better establishments, but no establishment visited has as yet abandoned the extensive use of wooden tables and wooden receptacles. These wooden receptacles are frequently found water soaked, only half cleansed and with meat scraps and grease accumulations adhering to their sides and collecting dirt. This is largely true of meat racks and meat conveyors of every sort, which were in nearly all cases inadequately cleansed, and grease and meat scraps were found adhering to them even after they had been washed and returned to service.

Sanitary Conveniences

Nothing shows more strikingly the general indifference to matters of cleanliness and sanitation than do the privies for both men and women. The prevailing type is made by cutting off a section of the work room by a thin wooden partition rising to within a few feet of the ceiling. These privies [illegible] the work [illegible] found with a [illegible] the outer air [illegible] inside ceilings [illegible] and thus have no outside opening whatever. They are furnished with [illegible] seats, generally with [illegible] partitions [illegible] used as [illegible] lunch [illegible] the same manner [illegible] of the work [illegible] privies the [illegible] to the generally [illegible] of the atmosphere.

[illegible] named condition [illegible] that affects most [illegible] the cleanliness [illegible] is the frequent [illegible] provisions in [illegible] sinks are either [illegible] are small and [illegible] soap or [illegible]. Men and women return [illegible] from these places to plunge their unwashed hands into the meat to be converted into such food products as sausages, dried beef and other [illegible]. Some of the privies are situated a long distance from the work [illegible] and men relieve themselves [illegible] killing floors or in a corner of the work rooms. Hence [illegible] of the urine [illegible] soaked rot [illegible] disease germs of men and animals.

New Buildings.

It is [illegible] that many of the unsanitary conditions are due to the fact that these buildings are old and have been built by piecemeal, and that in the newer buildings being erected from time to time [illegible] the earlier structures [illegible] The [illegible] within [illegible] of the [illegible] buildings. It is true that the [illegible] buildings have been [illegible] office building [illegible] other two contain only [illegible] storage and sales rooms [illegible] for the preparation of food products [illegible] the stock yards [illegible].

A Model Slaughter House.

In impressive contrast to the conditions [illegible] in the stock yards of Chicago is an establishment that Mr Reynolds visited in New York city. [illegible] particulars in which it is vastly superior to similar concerns in Chicago. The two upper floors used for cattle pens are paved with well laid brick and cement with side walls of brick, the top floor being covered to protect the cattle from the weather. The killing floor is paved with bluestone sloping toward well arranged drains and has a large air shaft for special ventilation and abundant windows. The ceiling and upper side walls are of hard cement with steel cross beams and cement-faced supports. The lower side walls are [illegible] with white [illegible] brick.

When the slaughtering of each day is finished water is turned on and in not more than fifteen minutes the room is [illegible] that all [illegible] of the work [illegible] removed.

[illegible] rooms such as those for cooling and storage are of a similar construction to the killing floor. White [illegible] tiles [illegible] walls that no corners may [illegible] dirt and refuse. Ventilation is [illegible] light [illegible] these [illegible] having evidently received careful consideration in planning the building. The privies [illegible] separate [illegible] with self-flushing [illegible] plain [illegible] has [illegible] shower baths and mirrors. [illegible] these examples [illegible] of the product [illegible] the same [illegible] the workers [illegible] the stock yards [illegible] should [illegible] national government [illegible] and [illegible] of Chicago.

Under existing [illegible] the burden of protecting the [illegible] and wholesomeness of the [illegible] health of the work [illegible] the conditions under which [illegible] work is performed must fall upon the [illegible] government.

Treatment of Products.

A [illegible] of cleanliness was also found everywhere in the handling of meat being prepared for the various meat products. After killing carcasses are well washed and [illegible] the time they reach the cooling room are handled in a fairly sanitary and cleanly manner. The parts [illegible] the cooling room for treatment [illegible] with regard [illegible] that are sent [illegible] the [illegible] room to those departments of the packing houses in which various forms of meat products are prepared are handled with no regard whatever for cleanliness.

In some of the largest establishments [illegible] is known as [illegible] are thrown in a heap upon the [illegible]. The workers climb over these heaps of meat, select the pieces they [illegible] throw them down [illegible] beside their working bench [illegible] cutting the meat upon [illegible] work is usually held [illegible] their aprons and these [illegible] indescribably filthy. They were made in most cases of leather or of [illegible] sacking and bore long accumulated grease and dirt. In only a few [illegible] suitable cloth aprons worn.

Moreover [illegible] were seen to climb from the [illegible] with shoes dirty with the refuse of the floor [illegible] the tables upon which the meat was handled. They were seen [illegible] sitting on the tables on the spot on which the meat product was handled, and all this under the very eyes of the superintendent of the room, showing that this was the common practice.

Shoveled Off Filthy Floor.

Meat [illegible] found being shoveled into [illegible] from dirty floors where they were left to lie until again shoveled into barrels or into machines for chopping. These floors it must be noted were in most cases damp and soggy, in dark, ill ventilated rooms, and the employes in [illegible] ignorance of cleanliness or danger [illegible] expectorated at will upon them. In [illegible] we saw meat shoveled from filthy wooden floors, piled on tables rarely washed, pushed from room to room in rotten box carts, in all of which processes it was in the way of [illegible] flinging dirt, spit [illegible] filth and the expectoration of tuberculous and other diseased workers.

Where comment was made to floor superintendents about these matters it was always the reply that this meat would afterwards be cooked and that this sterilization would prevent any danger from its use. Even this it may be pointed out in passing is not wholly true. A very considerable portion of the meat so handled is sent out as smoked products in the form of sausages which are prepared to be eaten without being cooked.

Handling Export Sausage

A particularly glaring instance of uncleanliness was found in a room where the best grade of sausage was being prepared for export. It was noted that carefully selected meats were being prepared to be eaten [illegible] the employe [illegible] meat across a room [illegible] handles of which were filthy [illegible] The meat was then thrown [illegible] tables and the employ [illegible] handled the meat with [illegible] wash [illegible] and trousers in contact [illegible] spreading out and [illegible] hold of [illegible] handles of the wheelbarrow [illegible] for another [illegible] repeated [illegible] indefinitely [illegible] that there was [illegible] and the only method [illegible] clearing [illegible] was [illegible] adjust his [illegible] users. As an extreme [illegible] the entire disregard [illegible] the employes of any notion of [illegible] in handling dressed meat, we saw [illegible] that had just been killed [illegible] washed and started on its way [illegible] room fall from [illegible] dirty wooden [illegible] a filthy men's privy [illegible] by two employes [illegible] hurled into the [illegible] with other [illegible] made to clean it.

Treatment After Inspection

[illegible] defect in the present system of inspection is that [illegible] at present by law [illegible] the healthfulness [illegible] of killing [illegible] meat [illegible] farms [illegible] preliminary [illegible] through insanitary [illegible] of the further danger through the use of chemicals.

[illegible] these processes of preparation there is no government inspection and no assurance whatever that the meat food products when sent out [illegible] a label [illegible] have been [illegible] upon by government inspectors.

As to the investigation of the charge of use of dyes, preservatives [illegible] chemicals in the preparation of cured meats, sausages and canned goods we are not yet prepared to report. We did make [illegible] the sanitary handling of these [illegible] prepared in the various [illegible] results of our observation [illegible] been partly given. Other [illegible] products may be made upon [illegible] of government [illegible] are here given.

In [illegible] well known establishment came [illegible] fresh meat being [illegible] to barrel [illegible] added [illegible] dirty floor [illegible] some [illegible].

In [illegible] establishment [illegible] a long table [illegible] with several hundred [illegible] scraps of beef and other [illegible] these meat scraps were dirty [illegible] and in [illegible] pigskin [illegible] strings [illegible] the [illegible] in charge that [illegible] and used in making [illegible].

Bear Misleading Labels

As [illegible] canned products bear labels [illegible] following is a sample [illegible] "The contents [illegible] have been inspected [illegible] act of congress of March 3, 1891 [illegible]."

[illegible] these labels [illegible] the government [illegible] on the healthfulness [illegible] time of killing [illegible] the processes [illegible] [illegible] It [illegible] government guaranty [illegible] to be what [illegible].

[illegible] establishment [illegible] moldy [illegible] several years [illegible] would be converted [illegible] disposition to be [illegible] wholly optional with the [illegible] packers as the government does not concern itself with [illegible] of meats after they have passed inspection on the killing floor. It might all be treated with chemicals mixed with other meats turned out in any form of meat product desired and [illegible] the packages or receptacles in which it was to be shipped out to the public would be marked with a label that their contents had been government inspected. It is not alleged there that such use was to be made of this stuff. The case is pointed out as one showing the glaring opportunity for the misuse of a label bearing the name and the implied guaranty of the United States government.

Another instance of abuse in the use of these labels came to our notice. In two different establishments great stocks of old canned goods were being put through a washing process to remove the old labels. They were then subjected to sufficient heat to "liven up" the contents—to use the phrase of the room superintendent. After this fresh labels with the government name on them were to be placed upon the cans and they were to be sent out bearing all the evidence of being a freshly put up product. In one of these instances by the admission of the superintendent, the stock thus being relabeled was over two years old. In the other case the superintendent evaded a statement of how old the goods were.

Treatment of Employes

The lack of consideration for the health and comfort of the laborers in the Chicago stock yards seems to be a direct consequence of the system of administration that prevails. The various departments are under the direct control of superintendents who claim to use full authority in dealing with the employes and who seems to ignore all considerations except those of the account book. Under this system proper [illegible] the products and of the health and comfort of the employes is impossible and the consumer suffers in consequence.

The insanitary conditions in which the laborers work and the feverish pace which they are forced to maintain inevitably affect their health. Physicians state that tuberculosis is disproportionately prevalent in the stock yards and the victims of the disease expectorate on the spongy wooden floors of the dark work rooms from which falling scraps of meat are later shoveled up to be converted into food products.

Even the ordinary decencies of life are completely ignored. In practically all cases the doors of the toilet rooms open directly into the working rooms, the privies of men and women frequently adjoining and the entrances are sometimes no more than a foot or two apart. In other cases there are no privies for women in the rooms in which they work, and to reach the nearest it is necessary to go up or down a couple of flights of stairs. In one noticeable instance the privy for [illegible] women working in several adjoining rooms was in a room in which men chiefly were employed, and every girl going to use this had to pass by the working places of dozens of male operatives and enter the privy, the door of which was not six feet from the working place of one of the men operatives. As previously noted in the privies for men and women alike there are no partitions but simply a long row of open seats. Rest rooms where tired women workers might go for a short stay were found in one or two establishments. In some establishments [illegible] placed [illegible] for this purpose. It was stated [illegible] that the girls did not [illegible] themselves too long from their work under the excuse of visiting the [illegible]. In some instances what was [illegible] rest room was simply one end of the privy partitioned off by a six foot partition from the remaining part. [illegible] A few girls were found using this not only as a rest room but as the only available place in which to eat their lunches.

Temperature of Work Rooms

Much of the work in connection with the handling of meat has to be carried on in rooms of low temperature [illegible] an almost [illegible] disregard was evidenced for the comfort of those who worked in these rooms. Girls and women were found in rooms registering a temperature of [illegible] degrees with no ventilation whatever, depending entirely upon artificial light. The floors were wet and soggy, and in some cases covered with water, so that the girls had to stand in boxes of sawdust as a protection for their feet. In a few cases even water dripping from the refrigerator rooms above [illegible] through the ceiling upon the heads of the workers and upon the food products being prepared. A very slight expense would have furnished dryer floors and protected them against the drippings from the ceiling. It was asserted by the superintendent of these rooms that this low temperature was essential to the proper keeping of the meat [illegible] In other establishments [illegible] carried on in rooms kept at a [illegible] temperature. In many cases girls of 15 and 18 years spend ten hours a day at work, much of which [illegible] carried [illegible] while sitting down.

In several establishments well managed restaurants were provided for the clerical force and in one instance a smoking room was provided for them, but no provision was found anywhere for a place to eat for the male laborers. In pleasant weather they eat their luncheon sitting out doors along the edge of the sidewalk or any place where they can find standing room. In winter, however, and in inclement weather their lunches have to be eaten in rooms that in many cases are stifling and nauseating. Eating rooms are provided in a number of places for women workers in the various departments, and in most of the large establishments coffee is served them at a penny a cup. Beyond this meager consideration for their convenience at meal times hardly any evidence is found that anyone gave a thought to their comfort.

The neglect on the part of their employers to recognize or provide for the requirements of cleanliness and decency of the employes must have an influence that cannot be exaggerated in lowering the morals and discouraging cleanliness on the part of the workers in the packing houses. The whole situation as we saw it in these huge establishments tends necessarily and inevitably to the moral degradation of thousands of workers, who are forced to spend their working hours under conditions that are entirely unnecessary and unpardonable and which are a constant menace not only to their own health, but to the health of those who use the food products prepared by them.

Government Inspection.

We observed carefully the inspection before slaughter, the inspection after slaughter in the killing beds, the more minute examination of animals tagged on the killing floors and the microscopic examination for trichinosis.

Inspection before slaughter appears to have little value in most cases. That undue advantage of this inspection is taken by outside parties is charged. There are abundant opportunities for such, but no specific evidence was presented to us. That this unimportant examination should be compulsory under the present law whereas the more scientific examination after slaughter is only permissive indicates a serious defect in the law.

Inspection after slaughter appears to be carefully and conscientiously made. The government veterinarian maintains that it is adequate, insisting that a passing examination of certain glands of the viscera and of the general condition of the carcass is sufficient to enable an expert engaged constantly in this work, to detect the presence of a disease or of abnormal conditions, the carcass is then tagged and set aside for a later and more careful examination. There should, however, be more precautions taken to insure that the instruments used be kept antiseptically clean.

The present number of inspectors is certainly inadequate, as the secretary of agriculture has often complained. We noted that some large establishments had obviously insufficient forces. A few concerns have no inspectors at all and may sell uninspected meat wherever they please in the United States.

The number of inspectors should be largely increased, so that special assignments may be made for night inspection, for the examination of animals at the platforms of stock yards, for the following of dead animals to their alleged destination and for other special work.

Special government inspection should be carried on continuously to prevent violations of the law and general abuses in the trade and to secure evidence when necessary.

A careful study of the standards of inspection in other countries should be made and the results of the study should be published and circulated for the public information.

Consideration should be given to the subject of specific labeling of all carcasses sold as fresh meat, which upon examination after slaughter, should show signs of disease, but are still deemed suitable for food.

The Truth about the Mutual Life

THIS is a matter of great interest to the public, and of still greater interest to thousands of individuals. People with the fairest minds—and that means most people—have been disturbed and unsettled by the developments and denunciations of the past few months. What these people want is the truth—the plain unvarnished truth. To give them this truth is the object of this announcement.

The Mutual Life Insurance Company was organized in 1843, the first of its kind in America. In 24 years it had become the largest in the world. For 39 years, in spite of the keenest competition, it has held the lead, passing unharmed through panics, failures, strikes and wars; meeting with promptness its every obligation and having 460 millions of assets to-day.

The recent Insurance agitation was unique. The investigation certainly was thorough. As every one knows the Mutual Life was on the firing line. The smoke has now cleared away. What do we find?

In the first place we find that the Mutual Life is still the largest and staunchest Life Insurance Company in the world. Without defending or in the least belittling the abuses and extravagances recently brought to light, everybody should keep in mind the fact that the solvency of this Company has not for a moment been affected thereby. Concerning the work of the finance committee which has been attacked in the press, this Company's auditing committee consisting of Messrs. Truesdale, Auchincloss, Fish and Dixon stated on February 15th, 1906:

"The Committee certify that the investments of the Company are of the highest order and well selected and have found the valuation given safe and conservative in many instances less than the market value and in none in excess of such value.

In the next place, extravagance has been stopped, and those responsible for it have gone, a new management has been installed, and retrenchments have been effected that have already saved vast sums of money and will save much more as time goes on. Legislative reforms have likewise been anticipated, and the Company is now as sound at the circumference as it always has been at the core.

In the next place, the ending of the first quarter presents an excellent opportunity for comparing this year with last.

The amount paid policy holders is $9,608,436.50 an increase of $1,070,835.26. The receipts for premiums were $15,082,484.57, a decrease of $857,995.29 for the period. This is a shrinkage of less than 5½ per cent. The amount paid for expenses was $2,935,552.44, a reduction of $1,547,279.36.

This remarkable showing is a good thing to be kept in mind by everybody—those now insured in the Mutual Life, and those who should be. It cannot be accounted for by the smaller amount of new business written. Of the saving for the quarter, the sum of $390,961.52 is in items not connected with the obtaining of new business.

In the next place we find that this Company is doing business—more business than any other company in the world with one exception. Far from being paralyzed or demoralized it is forging right ahead. Policies by the hundred are being written each day; honest trustees, keenly alert, are directing its affairs; faithful and experienced men are doing its intricate work; loyal agents are explaining its advantages and discriminating people are obtaining its protection.

In the next place we find that there need be no question as to the future. A policy in the Mutual Life is just as good as gold. No obligation could possibly be better. A bond of the United States Government is no safer. It will, therefore, be a misfortune if any one is misled by the writer who prints for revenue or for notoriety, or by the attorney who is out for his clients, or the competitor who is out for himself, or even by the gentlemen who have organized themselves into committees under an honest misapprehension of the facts. Such incidents may tend to hinder business, but need deter no one who needs insurance.

With economy, which means rapid improvement in regard to earning of surplus for dividends, everywhere at work in the Mutual Life; with its immense size as the basis for moderate general expenses; with smaller liability for renewal commissions to agents than any other Company; with the cost of new business limited by law for all Companies, how can any one possibly better provide for the uncertainties of the future than through a policy in the first Insurance Company in America, and the strongest in the world.

RAYMOND TUNNEL SUCCESS GIVES AN IMPETUS TO OTHER BORE SCHEMES IN GUNNISON

GUNNISON, Colo., June 4.—The success of the Raymond tunnel in the Gold Brick district between Ohio City and Pitkin has caused other like enterprises to start and now the driving of four big tunnels into the gold belt is under way. The Raymond Consolidated Mines company has its tunnel in over 2,000 feet and has cut numerous paying veins. Drifting on these has been in progress for months and today the company has sufficient ore in sight to keep its new 100 ton mill running indefinitely. Two thousand feet of contract work has been let on the [illegible] veins 500 feet each way. Last month the mill turned out [illegible] gold and over 200 tons of [illegible] per [illegible] concentrates. The output of the mine and mill is increasing and the next few months will show surprising results. This work has proven what deep mining will do in the Gunnison gold belt.

The Gold Link tunnel being driven by A. E. Reynolds and associates is penetrating the same formation a mile above the Raymond. It is in 1,700 feet and is cutting the same veins. This tunnel will also cut the Sacramento vein, which has already produced over half a million dollars. This vein is expected to be encountered at about 2,000 feet depth.

The Carter tunnel, a mile below the Raymond, driven by the Ashland Mining company, is meeting with like success. It is about 1,700 feet and has already cut strong veins. Besides the Raymond veins it cuts the Golden Bell, Volunteer and Chloride veins. A new plant of machinery has just been installed on this property.

The Belgo-[illegible] company [illegible] Michigan capital, [illegible] similar tunnel on its group at the Gold Links to cut the veins opened in shaft workings. Some strong veins of good mineral have been opened and ore shipped. As soon as the veins are developed the company will put in [illegible] ing plant on hand. [illegible] The entire gold belt looks very promising, not only in this [illegible] but in other camps.

LAST PAYMENT IS MADE ON THE LITTLE MATTIE GROUP

IDAHO SPRINGS, Colo., June 4.—The Little Mattie Mining, Milling and Power company made the final payment of $60,000 cash on the bond and lease that has been held during the past five years. The payment was made to Allan B. Wrisley and John Cochrane of Chicago. During the life of the lease and bond royalties have been deposited in a bank and the accumulation amounted to about $25,000, showing that over $250,000 has been marketed by this company, as the royalties averaged about 10 per cent. The profits taken out by the company have been expended largely in improvements and developments.

These consist of a renovation of the mill, a new steel water flume, a cable tramway from the main shaft to the mill and a large amount of underground development. Many leasers have made good sums out of the Mattie.

It is roughly estimated that the production of this property will approximate $2,000,000. The group consists of twenty claims. [illegible] the east and [illegible] Silver [illegible] west the Mattie [illegible] quarter of the [illegible] side of [illegible] mountain.

Astonishing results are [illegible] the driving of the Shafter lateral west from the central tunnel. [illegible] assays ran so high that Manager [illegible] made a thorough checking of the entire [illegible] with the same encouraging showing. The heading of the [illegible] is being driven through a [illegible] streak of ore that gives an average of 3.08 ounces of gold per ton. Fifty hundred dollars worth of [illegible] is [illegible] broken down each day. The [illegible] are such as to justify the belief that the main shoot of the Shafter vein has been encountered. The ore [illegible] by the Hudson mill which is connected with the Shafter vein by a tramway. It is estimated that $1,000,000 worth of ore has been treated by [illegible] and amalgamation. The loss in this milling will not be greater than the smelting charges.

SMELTER TRUST WILL MINE COAL

COMPANY HAS PURCHASED PROPERTY NEAR TRINIDAD. WILL SUPPLY TRUST PLANTS.

DENVER, June 4.—The American Smelting and Refining company is going into the coal producing business and will spend several hundred thousand dollars in opening five mines and establishing coke ovens near Trinidad.

"The product will be for our own consumption," says Franklin Guiterman, general manager of the company. "It will not be put on the market, but will be consumed by our smelters and other plants."

The plants of the American Smelting and Refining company in Colorado require thousands of tons of coal daily. The fuel is being purchased from the coal producing companies in this state at high figures and the cost of fuel is one of the largest items of the smelter company for its operation expenses. So heavy has the expenditure for fuel become that General Manager Guiterman decided to purchase coal lands and develop them. Some months ago land situated twelve miles from Trinidad was secured and this will be made producing property.

As it requires from one to two years to do the development work necessary to the production of coal from a mine there will be no change in the demand of the smelter company for fuel for that length of time.

This is the first venture of the Guggenheims into the coal business of Colorado. There is a probability that the company, as its production of fuel increases, will put coal on the market and will be a competitor of the Colorado Fuel & Iron company, the Victor Fuel company and other producing companies in Colorado.

MARKET'S CLOSE WAS IRREGULAR

THE VOLUME OF WALL STREET TRADING SHOWED A GAIN OVER LAST WEEK'S AVERAGE.

NEW YORK, June 4.—There was some increase in the volume of dealings in today's stock market over last week's daily average. The dealings were more distributed among different stocks, giving the market an appearance of greater breadth and variety.

Prices ruled higher than at the close of last week, yet the movement did not serve to convince sentiment, which remained uncertain or skeptical. Commission houses complained of an entire lack of orders and a profound indifference toward the market so far as the general public was concerned. Operations were pronounced to be in the hands of professionals and the greatest part of the activity confined within narrow limits showed a tendency to break away from some of the recent favorites and to develop new lines.

The early advance showed some conspicuous abstentions among prominent market leaders. Some of these were brought forward later in a way that would have rectified the irregularity of the market had it not been that realizing intervened in the earlier strong stocks and broke up the continuity of the advance.

St. Paul continued to hold a prominent position on the continued belief that subscription rights would accrue to stockholders as a result of the plan for raising more capital. Amalgamated Copper weakened rather notably on the first appearance of the company's annual report, but the character of the buying of the stock on the decline drove the shorts to cover. Colorado Fuel made a further advance accompanied by a variety of gossip alleging its intended absorption by the United States Steel corporation.

There was a decidedly easier tone in the time money market and this extended to some of the carry-over, although rates for the later periods were still relatively firmer.

The closing tone of the market was irregular with only a part of the day's strong stocks maintained at the top level.

Bonds were steady. Total sales, par value, $2,[illegible]5,000. United States bonds unchanged on call.

GUARANTEED CURE FOR FITS.

A new method of home treatment for epileptic fits originated by a famous Washington scientist with all the government laboratories at his hand, has been discovered. Elixir Kosine is recommended for only one disease—epilepsy or fits. It is so unfailing in curing this dread trouble that its discoverer has instructed the local agents in this city, the D. Y. Butcher Drug Co., to sell it under their absolute guarantee to refund the money if it fails, and he will pay them for the remedy himself. When used according to directions it can no more fail to cure epilepsy than can the sun fail to rise. But this guarantee is made to inspire perfect confidence.

Both sexes, young or old, who have any symptoms of epileptic fits, any nervous twitchings or trembling, should use Elixir Kosine, the only guaranteed cure. Price $1.50. Mail orders filled. The Kosine Co., Washington, D. C., or the D. Y. Butcher Drug Co., Colo. Springs.

ST. PETERSBURG EDITOR HAS A CHANGE OF HEART

ST. PETERSBURG, June 4.—Prince Metschersky, editor of the Grashdanin, who, before the assembling of parliament, was constantly assailing the aristocracy and bureaucracy, has now completely changed front and maintains that the lower house, unless the cooler and more moderate heads stop the present tendency, is destined to become a purely revolutionary body. He calls upon President Mouromtseff to declare whether he desires to be a Hugatcheff, who led the famous peasant uprising of 1775, or a Minin, the cattle dealer of Nizhni Novgorod, who saved the country from anarchy during the interregnum preceding the establishment of the Romanoffs.

The emperor has received a peculiar dispatch from the Black Hundred organization of Yekaterinodar, asking him to impose a censorship on the treasonable speeches of members of the lower house of parliament. Whit-Monday was observed as a general holiday throughout Russia.

MEDICAL ASSOCIATION TO BEGIN SESSIONS TODAY

BOSTON, June 4.—Several thousand physicians and surgeons from various parts of the United States, and several distinguished medical men from abroad are here to attend the open meetings of the annual convention of the American Medical association, as well as the annual meetings of other American medical associations, which will be held this week in Boston.

The first general meeting of the Medical association will come tomorrow. Among the prominent foreign surgeons expected are Sir Wm. MacEwen, regius professor at the University of Glasgow; Professor Alfred Duhrssen, the well-known German gynecologist; Professor Alfonse Von Rosthorn, of Heidelburg; Professor Max Joseph, of Berlin; Professor Friedrich Trendelenburg, chief of the surgical clinic at Leipsic, Germany; Dr. Theodore Tuffier, of Paris, and Professor Max Von Frey, of Austria.

YOUNG WOMAN DROWNED WHEN A DORY CAPSIZES

NEW YORK, June 4.—One young woman was drowned and three others were dragged out of the water unconscious and hurried to the Washington Heights hospital early today as a result of the capsizing of a small dory that had put off from the steam yacht Diana, owned by a Dr. Halgren, in the North river, opposite One Hundred and Fifty-eighth street.

The yacht had returned from a trip up the Hudson and was bound for its anchorage down the bay. When off One Hundred and Fifty-eighth street, the yacht was stopped and a boat lowered so that five of the party could be taken ashore. Those who left the yacht were Walter Anderson, Chas. Conway, Miss Madge Zauner, of Bay Ridge, and Miss Bessie Hoop.

A man, who was the fifth member of the party and the last to climb down into the boat, stepped on the gunwale, upsetting the craft. The crew of the yacht went to the rescue, but Miss Hoop was carried out by the tide and drowned before she could be reached.

Wouldn't It Make You Think?

If you had tramped the streets all day looking for a Furnished Room—
And had called at scores of places, but none that seemed to answer your requirements—
Darkness was falling as you met a friend who directed you to a fine room with gas, bath and all homecomforts—
You could scarce contain yourself with delight, and eagerly rang the bell to close a deal for the Furnished Room in question.
When the landlady said "I promptly rented this room through a Gazette want ad—you're too late!"

ARINGTON'S COMEDIANS IN "THE PARSON'S CLAIM."

The patrons of the Opera house last evening witnessed the initial performance of the great western comedy drama, "The Parson's Claim," a story of '72. It is a very strongly constructed melodrama, replete with exciting situations. The play was well received by the audience and with great applause, especially at the climax of the second act, when the Indian [illegible] Titton. Mayme Arington as Maggie Mason played the part well and as usual was the favorite with the audience. Thomas Pawley as Joseph Maxfield gave a fine portrayal of the character. Elsie Morgan as Belle Gordon was up to her usual standard. Florence Craig as Dynamite Ann had a very strong part and played it most acceptably. Baby Helen as Titton again delighted the audience by her clever acting. W. W. Craig as the Indian showed his ability of taking various parts. H. S. Allen as the Mexican, A. J. Cole as Martin Mason, Lew Veder as the Coon and A. Winton as Mr. Wilson all played their respective parts with their usual vim. "The Parson's Claim" will be repeated today at the matinee and tonight.
